DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-13, drawn to a method for the inducible expression of a heterologous nucleic acid, classified in class 435, subclasses 6 and 471.
- II. Claims 14-19, drawn to host cell comprising regulator gene, a promoter and a heterologous nucleic acid molecule, classified in class 435, subclass 243.

Groups I and II are comprised of multiple inventions which is the product or method drawn to different products produced by an enzymatic biosynthetic pathway that are chemically, biologically, and functionally distinct which do not render obvious each other and thus are patentably distinct. Please choose a product produced by an enzymatic biosynthetic pathway from, for example, claim 3 or 19. Applicant must elect a single invention, which is the product or method drawn to one specific product to which the claims will be restricted. The applicant must also indicate which claims are readable on the elected invention.

Note: the non-standard format of this restriction, separating the inventions into multi-invention groups drawn to distinct types of products and methods, followed by an election of a single invention drawn to one combination or one disease within the elected multi-invention group was done for the sake of compactness of the communication and clarity, instead of using the more standard format setting forth each invention drawn to each separate agent or element which would require a much longer and less clear communication.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Group I and Group II are related as product and process of use.

The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the host cell could have an alternative use such as a biosensor for toxic chemicals.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, by their recognized divergent subject matter and by a their requirement for different searches, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
